

School-bus riders collect aluminum-can tabs for Ronald McDonald House

Written by Staff Reports
Friday, 27 May 2016 02:28

Students who ride Bus 283 from David Skeets Elementary School have collected aluminum tabs from whatever cans they could to send to the Ronald McDonald House in Albuquerque.

The 65 students now have three-months' worth of tabs. All who participated have worked hard in making this task a huge success.

"From the first day they were told about collecting these tabs and explained how it would help people in need, they were really excited," Gallup-McKinley County Schools bus driver Kathy Garcia said. "The students are smart, loving, caring children, and they are perfect criteria for this job."

Garcia will be delivering the tabs to Albuquerque in June.